The 1959 Mac

Volume XII

McGraw Central School

McGraw, New York

Foreword

A yearbook is a collection of the events in a student's school life. It not only is interesting at the present time, but it will be an enriching recollection of one's high school years in the future.

We, the staff of the "Mac," sincerely hope that you'll enjoy the contents of this annual now and in the future.

Dedication

We, the staff of the “’59 Mac” proudly dedicate this yearbook to Robert Warfield. For the past nine years he has served our school as head custodian. His jobs are too numerous to mention, but he works diligently at all of them.

One important thing we should never forget, Bob never refuses to help anyone at any time. When we ask him for assistance, he always grants it graciously. It’s this kindness and eagerness that makes us certain the dedication of the Yearbook to Bob is justifiable.

Adult Supervision

The present regents examination program in the State of New York began nearly 100 years ago. During the past year a number of important changes have been adopted by the board of regents and approved by the commissioner.

Beginning in June 1959, principals of registered secondary schools may issue Regents State High School Diplomas following the regents examination period at the time of high school graduation. Previous to this time they could not be issued until the regents report had been returned from Albany. This should give more prestige to the Regents Diploma and encourage scholastic achievement. These diplomas will be designated with "honor" if the student has an average of 90 per cent or better in all of the regents examinations used to issue his or her diploma, or "scientific" if the pupil by the state for grades seven, eight and nine in mathematics, including intermediate algebra and trigonometry as well as three units in science beyond ninth year general science selected from biology, earth science, chemistry and physics.

As a result of the above changes regents papers rated in the school will be held at the school subject to call from the State Education Department for review.

The passing grade will be 65 and no longer will papers be marked with a circled 65 when the actual score is 62, 63 or 64. The number of regents examinations offered in January will be reduced since January promotion is used in very few schools. It is also planned to discontinue some of the less important regents examinations. June 1959 will be the last year in which eighth grade preliminary examinations will be taken. Standardized examinations prepared by the state for grades seven, eight and nine in mathematics, English, science and citizenship education may be substituted. We hope the above changes will result in a more effective method of evaluating instruction and encourage higher scholastic standards.

Mr. Baer, Principal.

In Memoriam

Robert Craft—friend, classmate, and a reticent, reserved individual—that's how I, the editor of this yearbook, remember him, and how, I'm sure, all the Seniors recall him.

Unfortunately, when he was in the sixth grade, Robert was killed accidentally. As we Seniors stand on the brink of our future at commencement, he will be absent. However, Robert has reached his zenith; we are only striving for it.

CLASS MOTTO—"The man who tries to do something and fails is infinitely better than he who tries to do nothing and succeeds."

Well, the Senior year has arrived! These past thirteen years are years of joy and ones to be long remembered. Many of the original class members who started in kindergarten are yet among our midst and through the years new members arrived and some dropped out until we now total eighteen. Our economic efforts in the eighth grade play, Just Ducky, afforded us a trip to Albany which we'll all remember for a long time. Our Freshman year was quite uneventful but as Sophomores things started popping! Pencil sales and refreshment sales at basketball games gave us our start toward the Senior trip. As Juniors we experienced the qualms of salesmen in our magazine sales but it was the Prom which was the highlight of our year's activities. Now as Seniors we'll always remember the Senior play, Charley's Aunt, and of course the Senior trip will rate a larger spot in our memories. As our last year draws to an end we'll always have these memories and the many personal joys encountered in these—the most wonderful thirteen years.

The hard-earned money will be carefully hoarded toward the expenses of next year's trip.

Junior Activities

Each year the members of the Junior Class have the privilege of selecting a high school ring. To order a ring, each one must have fulfilled certain requirements scholastically. So you see, when we start wearing our rings, it will mean that we have crossed quite a hurdle in our high school careers.

The highlight of the social season at McGraw Central is the Annual Junior Prom. By vote of the high school students and seventh and eighth grades, a girl and a boy from the Junior Class are chosen to reign as king and queen of this event. One would scarcely recognize our gym, after it has been transformed into a veritable fairyland by the work and imagination of the Junior Class.

Rifle

About sixty members of the club, about evenly divided between boys and girls, shot in the intramural program held during noon hour and after school during the months of January, February and March. The varsity was unable to compete in the N.R.A. Sectionals this year because of the distance to the nearest sectional.

The rifle team will lose through graduation, John Nauseef and Gerald Osborne, but the season outlook for next year is good with a number of freshmen and sophomores showing real promise to fill in the gaps and give the team more depth.

Mr. Baer, rifle coach, shows Gail Friedah and Ann Harris how to adjust the rear sight to "zero" in the rifle.

Loud our praises call.
